CITY OF FLOWERS IS DESCRIBED AT CLUB MEETING

Traveler and Lecturer Gives Interesting Talk; Report on Society Circus

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Member Evening News Staff.

Florence, la citta del fiore, the city of flowers was brought nearer to Tuesday Afternoon club members and guests yesterday by Miss Lila van Kirk, traveler and lecturer, who appeared as the speaker of the afternoon, giving an illustrated talk on the Renaissance period in Florentine history as perpetuated in Florentine buildings and art, the work of Florentine artists.

Miss van Kirk introduced her talk by reading a brief sketch of the city and showing a colored drawing of the Lily of the Arno, the historical emblem of the city. The emblem is a white lily on a scarlet background, the lily resembling the fleur-de-lis of France except that the Lily of the Arno has decorative sprays at the top of the floral design.

Colored Illustrations

Lives and works of immortal Florentines, such as Giotto, Brunelleschi, Ghiberti, Donatello, Michael Angelo, Cellini, Fedi, Dante, Savanarola, and Gallileo furnished the inspiration for Miss van Kirk's talk, which was illustrated with slides picturing buildings, scenery and works of art, artistically colored by herself.

Miss van Kirk, who has spent much time in travel, is a landscape painter. She has spent much time in Italy and has made a special study of Florence and the Florentines.

Preceding Miss van Kirk's presentation the club members enjoyed their usual hour of singing and then a brief club session directed by Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president.

Advisory Council

During the meeting Mrs. Campbell announced that there will be a meeting of the advisory council

DIRECTORS HOLD LAST GATHERING

Final Meeting of C. of C. Board Takes Place at Noon on Tuesday

The Chamber of Commerce's regular weekly luncheon and meeting was held at noon yesterday in the chamber's assembly room. V. M. Hollister, president of the chamber, presided.

No business of importance was transacted, due to the fact that the terms of nine of the directors have expired and they are outgoing from office.

Those relieved from their director's duties were George H. Bentley, C. C. Cooper, J. A. Newton, R. D. White, Owen Emery, J. G. Huntley, C. E. Kimlin, Jesse E. Smith and V. M. Hollister.

President Hollister, in a brief address, thanked the outgoing members in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce for their splendid co-operation during the past year. James Rhoades and E. F. Sanders, secretary and assistant secretary of the chamber, also paid a tribute to the retiring body.

The question of appropriating funds for preparing a Glendale float for the New Year's parade in Pasadena came up, but it was subsequently shelved for discussion at a later date.

It also was moved that action on all other business matters should be held over until the new board members take office. This resolution passed.

Names of new business firms which joined the chamber during the past week follow:

Pulliam, Kiefer & Eyerick, 365 East Broadway; Glendale Mixed Mortar company, Aviation Drive; H. C. Mullen, 215 South Pacific avenue; A. H. Lankford, 311 East Broadway; Conway's Market, 920 South Glendale avenue.

Drs. Giff & Johnston, 221 West Broadway; Glendale Ladies' Exchange, 225 East Broadway; Greenleaf Drug company, 200 South Brand; Page-Stone company, Inc., 113 East Broadway, and the Atlas Upholstering company, 1517 South San Fernando road.

Special Service at Christian Science

Thanksgiving Day at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, at the corner of Maryland and California avenues, will be featured by a 10 o'clock service. The public has been invited to attend.

"Thanksgiving" is to be the subject of the lesson and the golden text from Psalms 118:24 is: "This is the day which the Lord hath made; let us rejoice and be glad in it."

THANKSGIVING

THREE CENTURIES ago a little handful of Pilgrims who had journeyed far from home to a strange, new land on a stormy coast felt the need of rendering thanks to God for his mercies.

Battling with savage natives, struggling against the cruelties of nature that all pioneers must endure, seeing their loved ones succumb to hardships, yet they had something for which to give thanks.

How much more need have we to be thankful here in this sunny clime on the shores of a peaceful sea in this year of 1922.

Prosperity in unstinted measure has been showered upon us as a nation, as a city and as individuals. Here in Glendale there is very little real poverty. We need not fear hunger and cold nor dread attacks from bloodthirsty savages or wild beasts. We need not depend on a flintlock musket to keep us from starvation or supply the turkey for our Thanksgiving dinner.

As individuals we not only have the necessities of life. We have every means for making ourselves comfortable and happy with the least possible effort on our part; every agency for our entertainment and amusement is at hand.

As a city we have every reason to be thankful. Glendale's beauty of situation, her prosperity and wealth, the loyalty of her citizens who have spread her name far and wide, every agency that has helped to make her a splendid, clean, home city, are all things for which we should give thanks.

If we were suddenly reduced to the condition in which our forefathers found themselves on that first Thanksgiving day we should think we had nothing to be thankful for.

The Glendale Evening News joins with the people of Glendale at this Thanksgiving season in rendering thanks for the many mercies and blessings that have come to us as a city in the past.

Exchange Club Has Thanksgiving Dinner

How many gobbles in a turkey?

The Glendale Exchange club this noon is debating this weighty question at the Broadway Inn.

The amount of fruit in a fruit cake is also the subject of discussion.

The turkey, which is said upon good authority to consist of both light and dark meat, is being furnished by Caterer William Herzel, who is serving a plentiful dinner to match in quality the king of the table.

An immense fruit cake, which is a gift from the Hazen J. Titus Fruit Cake company, is being cut for the occasion. Its ornamental icing bore the emblem of the club and its motto: "Unity for Service."

The dinner is being attended both by the members of the Exchange club and their wives.

Sorority Members at 'Thanks' Dinner

Misses Eunice and Agnes Caldwell, Occidental college students, were hostesses at a big Thanksgiving dinner last night at their Glendale home at 326 West Wilson avenue, where they entertained twenty-one of their Gamma sorority sisters. They were assisted by their mother, Mrs. W. S. Caldwell, and Mrs. K. E. Leak and daughter Edna and Mrs. Katherine Fenstermaker.

Bouquets of pink carnations decorated the dinner table and Thanksgiving place cards marked the places.

The Misses Caldwell had as guests the last week-end Misses Helen and Lillian Lind of Twin Falls, Idaho, who are attending Pomona college.

L. Jeter Is Injured; Cannot Play In Game

L. Jeter, who played center on the champion lightweight football team of the Glendale Union High school, is still excluded from active participation in athletics with an injury that he sustained in practice some time ago. He has a ligament torn in one heel, and will not be back in the field for the game that is scheduled with Huntington Park in the playoff for southern California championship. Elmer Muff will substitute.

BRITISH CABINET MEETS

LONDON, Nov. 29.—The British cabinet met this afternoon to consider the break in Anglo-Greek relations over the executions of former Greek ministers at Athens in the face of British opposition.

No Paper to Be Issued Tomorrow

Tomorrow being Thanksgiving, The Glendale Evening News will not be issued.

There are a certain number of holidays each year which are observed by this paper and Thanksgiving is one of them. The entire day will be given over to the News' large force of employes to enjoy as they see fit. So do not expect your copy of your home newspaper tomorrow.

'Through With You!' Says Tiernan's Bride

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Nov. 29.—"I am through with you for good and wish to have nothing further to do with you or your kind."

That was the message Mrs. Blanche Brimmer (Mrs. Tiernan No. 2) sent today to Professor John P. Tiernan at South Bend, Ind. Mrs. Brimmer plainly showed her anger over the professor's failure to return to her following their one-day honeymoon in Chicago.

One of Tiernan's fervid love letters to his bride of a day was brought to light today.

"I want to say to you, Blanche dear, right here and now, that I am yours," the letter read. "You can have me. I pledged myself that I would belong body and soul to the first woman that won my love, and that is you, my sweet little girl from Iowa.

"We have both been through tragedy, loveless marriages, and we have both been betrayed, and naturally we both feel a sense of remorse and sorrow because our love was misplaced and abused and desecrated by an unfaithful partner. But, Blanche, there is something in life after all. Blanche, I love women. My love is a fine loyalty and constancy. It is not mere passion."

Catholic Church to Hold Mission Service

Father James O'Neill, pastor of the Holy Family Catholic church parish, announces that the church is to hold a mission commencing Sunday, December 3, at 10:30 o'clock mass and ending Sunday night, December 10, with the benediction. The papal blessing is to be given at the end of the mission.

Further details of the services are given by Father O'Neill as daily mass and short instruction, 5:30 o'clock; special mothers' mass with sermon, 9:15 o'clock; daily mission and instruction for children, 3:30 o'clock; daily mission for Catholic adults who seek a better knowledge of their religion and for non-Catholics desirous of instruction will be held in the parish huse, 214 East Elk avenue at 7:15 o'clock in the evening.

The rosary with a sermon and benediction will be given in the church every night at 8 o'clock, with music by the parish choir.

High School Trustees Order Improvements

A number of minor repairs about the high school plant during the Christmas vacation were decided upon last night by the Glendale Union High school board of trustees. A report submitted by a committee of investigation called attention to several places where plaster needed repairing. Because of puddles of water which obstruct the passage of students to and from the bungalows, the laying of several stretches of cement walks was authorized.

Old Foes to Fight on 'Grid' Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—Two great student ralies last night put the finishing touches on preparations for the clash of Sant aClara and St. Mary's at Berkeley tomorrow. It is the first meeting since an athletic breach occurred between the two institutions in 1911.

SHIP SUBSIDY BILL PASSES IN HOUSE BY 208 TO 184

Administration Measure Is Favored In House of Representatives

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The administration's ship subsidy bill, designed to provide for the successful maintenance of the American merchant marine on a par with the commercial fleets of other nations, was passed this afternoon by the house of representatives.

By A. O. HAYWARD
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Passage by the house of the administration's ship subsidy bill was virtually assured this afternoon when the house, by a vote of 215 to 172, defeated a motion by the opposition to send the measure back to the merchant marine committee with instructions to strike out the indirect subsidy provisions.

The motion to re-commit—a move to defeat the bill—was made by Representative Rufus Hardy, Democrat of Texas.

A final roll call on the bill was then ordered.

Eliminates Dry Order

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Reversing its previous action, the house by a vote of 221 to 27 eliminated a provision from the ship subsidy bill barring intoxicating liquor from subsidy ships.

A separate vote on the amendment, which was adopted by the house yesterday at the request of Representative Edmonds, Republican of Pennsylvania, was demanded by Representative Krampton, Republican of Michigan.

Krampton said the Daugherty bone-dry ruling for American vessels would be set aside by the ship subsidy amendment and backed up this statement with protests from the anti-saloon league and the W. C. T. U.

Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. J. R. Danner and Mrs. W. W. Dutton.

Among the articles won at the booths were a comfort, Miss Amie Miller; a comfort, Mrs. Queen Danner; a luncheon set, Mrs. Hattie Tiffany, laundry bag, George Peck; apron, Miss Alma Dutton; dresser scarf, Mrs. Susie Peck; bowl, painted by Leonora Skelton, won by Mrs. Lester Jones.

Uncle John Says--

Mary has been at me to go and have a new suit made. She likes to fix up herself and I guess she thinks I don't look dressed up enough to go out with her. I said: "All right, Mary, I'll go over to Los Angeles and see what I can do. By shoppin' around I ought to be able to get somethin' good real cheap." That woman can't take a joke. She up and got as mad as a hornet. "Don't you dare," she said. "You take The Glendale Evening News and look over the ads and then if you want to do any shoppin' around do it in Glendale."

W. E. EVANS HOME FROM SIX WEEKS SPENT IN EAST

Visits Number of Places of Historical Interest; Business Much Improved

There is no one more happy about being in Glendale for Thanksgiving than W. E. Evans of 333 North Orange street, attorney and vice chairman of the Los Angeles County Republican Committee, who arrived home yesterday after six weeks in the east attending to legal business and visiting with his mother in Kentucky.

"I had a very enjoyable as well as satisfactory trip" said Mr. Evans this morning. "The first two weeks of my time was spent in and about Albany, New York, where I was engaged in court work. While in Albany I visited a number of places of historical interest near there along the Hudson. The old homestead of President Van Buren near Kinderbrook, is in a good state of preservation. The large two story brick building erected about the close of the Revolution contains the furniture used by Mr. Van Buren before he was elected president.

Lured to Los Angeles.

"He conducted much of his business while in office from this place. The home is now owned and occupied by a Dr. Birney, who is a most courteous and gracious gentleman. Dr. Birney with his only daughter was making ready to leave the following day for Los Angeles to spend the winter.

"Near the Van Buren home is the old Dutch school house, where he was born. In the little village is the home and place where Burgoyne, the British general was imprisoned after his capture or surrender at the close of the war. This house was built about 1761. It is in good condition and in the front yard the old elm tree under which he sat under guard, is still standing, although the indications are that friendly and patriotic hands have been ever ready to administer unto it.

UNIFICATION PLAN NOT ACTED UPON

Delegations From Outside Districts Fail to Attend School Conference

Initial steps towards the unification of the school systems in this district were not taken at last night's conference in the high school because no representatives were present from Eagle Rock, Tujunga, La Crescenta or Sunland.

After an informal discussion of the situation by members of the high school board of trustees and the grammar school board of education, action was postponed until next Tesusday night when the various school boards in the district will be invited to a six o'clock supper in the high school cafeteria.

Meanwhile, the legal aspect of the consolidation of the grammar school and high school districts is being studied by a committet which will be received Friday afternoon by Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, and Attorney Jerry Powell, deputy county council in charge of legal matters pertaining to the schools.

Dr. Koeding Host at Birthday Dinner

A very impressive pre-Thanksgiving dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. George Koeding, of 237 N. Central avenue, Sunday night, in honor of Mr. Koeding's birthday anniversary.

A dinner of several courses, of which the outstanding one was turkey, was served at a table magnificently decorated with a centerpiece of pink and white rosebuds and smilax. A large birthday cake bearing candles with suitable inscriptions was buried beneath a mound of pink and white rose leaves.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. J. Kottmeyer, Dr. and Mrs. Lawler, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Riddell, Mr. Harvey Burson and Mr. Charles Burson.

SEEK TO RECALL JAP AS LEADER OF SCHOOL

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—Petitions were being circulated today by students of the Le Compte junior high school for the recall of John Aiso, American born Japanese boy who was elected president of the student body by popular vote. The petitions for the recall, it is said, were circulated by some of the students when they learned that their "sympathetic" votes for Aiso proved enough to elect him over his opponent Ivan McNeil by 600 votes. The alibi of the students is that they voted for Aiso out of pity, thinking not a moment their votes would elect him.

SIX PERSONS DEAD AS RESULT OF ESCAPING GAS

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 29.—Carbon-monoxide gas, generated from the gas stove in the living room, caused the death of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Henderson and four children, ranging in age from 17 months to 7 years, at Lancaster, Fairfield county, last Tuesday, State Health Director H. H. Snively announced today following the completion of tests at the state chemical laboratories. This sets at rest the official theory of Fairfield county officials that Mrs. Henderson, despondent over continued ill health, had murdered her family and killed herself.

TURKS NOW WITHDRAW FROM PEACE CONFERENCE

LAUSANNE, Nov. 29.—Angered by the allies' new plans for demilitarization of the Aegean islands, the Turks withdrew this afternoon from the sub-commission of the near east peace conference dealing with the future status of islands off the Turkish coast. The Turks demanded sovereignty over most of the important islands, claiming that Greece might attempt to use them at some future time as war bases. John De Kay, an American, is here representing an Anglo-Franco-American oil syndicate. The syndicate is said to have concessions in Anatolia, Mesopotamia and Mosul. Its capitalization is $150,000,000. A considerable amount of the syndicate's property was formerly privately owned by the heirs of former Sultan Abdul Hamid. Mr. DeKay is said to have been favorably received by the Turkish envoys.

The invention is the culmination of decades of study and years of experimenting. It is bound to have a revolutionary effect throughout the entire world. Details are kept a most profound secret but they are expected to be known at least in part when a number of German industrial leaders meet here to discuss the discovery. Two or three days will be taken by the scientist to propound his invention and discoveries. Those who know the inside declare that this new discovery is of equal importance with the invention of the steam engine and the discovery of electricity.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—Citations to appear and show cause why they should not be tried for contempt of court were today scheduled to be served by the district attorney's office on four persons connected with the last trial of Madalynne Obenchain following a majority report of the Los Angeles Bar association, which found a "prima facie" case of jury tampering. The citations were issued by Superior Judge Schenk just after the jury had retired in the case of Arthur C. Burch, co-defendant of Madalynne Obenchain in the murder of J. Belton Kennedy. The four persons are Mrs. Alice G. McCartney, wife of Deputy District Attorney H. F. G. McCartney, one of the members of the panel at the last trial of Mrs. Obenchain; James M. JOHN S. M'GROARTY TELLS OF EARLY STATE HISTORY

Address by 'Man From Hills' Holds Interest at C. of C. Forum Meet

Glendale last night turned out 200 strong to attend the Chamber of Commerce's big forum dinner and meeting, and in eager anticipation of a scheduled address by John Steven McGroarty, famed as the author of the "Mission Play" and known throughout the United States as an authority on California history.

Others who participated in the success of the forum gathering, which was voted by officials of the Chamber of Commerce to have been the most interesting and complete entertainment program they ever promoted, were Father James S. O'Neill, who introduced the speaker; Rev. Henry Rasmus, who read the invocation, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard, who, with Wilbur Herwig, entertained the throng with songs galore.

Praises Organization

The meeting was presided over by V. M. Hollister, president of the chamber. Jesse E. Smith, vice-president of the Chamber, was master of ceremonies. After a brief outline of what the Chamber of Commerce had effected in the past eleven months, Mr. Smith introduced Father O'Neill.

In a few choice phrases Father O'Neill said that he was elated to be in attendance because he had watched the Chamber of Commerce grow from a small handful of men to the large organization that it is today.

"I came here fifteen years ago," he reminded his listeners. "At that time the strawberry was emblematic of Glendale. Patches of them fairly dotted this community. But today," he pondered over Glendale's marvelous growth, "I would say that our emblem should be a modest violet down in the city hall."

In introducing the speaker, Father O'Neill referred to him

ALL OF GLENDALE PLANS TO OBSERVE THANKSGIVING DAY

PIONEERS HOLD YEARLY REUNION

Old Friends Meet Again on Thanksgiving Day for Thirty-fifth Time

This Thanksgiving Day will be the thirty-fifth consecutive one that Mrs. Frederick A. Field, of 138 North Louise street, has spent with her life-long friend, Mrs. L. F. Clark, of Hyde Park. The thing of which these two old friends are proudest is that during the long stretch of all those years the ribbon of remembrance at this holiday season has never once been broken.

And as the ribbon unrolls, looking backward with eyes of memory, Mrs. Field recalls that day forty-five years ago, when she and her husband first came to Los Angeles. The story of the years from then to now is the history of Southern California. Los Angeles was then a sleepy pueblo of 5000 people. There was no Glendale, no San Fernando valley, no boulevards, no automobiles, no tourists, very little wealth, very little water—a tiny oasis fighting the sands of the desert on the east and of the ocean on the west.

Settled In L. A.

The Fields settled in what is now the Vernon section of Los Angeles, then a mere handful of houses. And the Clarks, who were to become their closest friends, settled in Hyde Park, on a section of government land Mr. Clark took up as a veteran of the Civil war.

The years passed. The people came. The water came. The wealth grew and grew. Poor desert land became valuable ranch acreage, grew more valuable as the cities encroached, and was finally subdivided and sold.

Nineteen years ago Mrs. Clark's daughter Cora died. As a monument to her memory the parents had a church erected in Hyde Park. Last year Mr. Clark died. In memory of that brave pioneer by whose side she had stood nearly a lifetime, his widow caused an annex to be added to that church.

Here Fifteen Years

Fifteen years ago Rev. and Mrs. Field came to Glendale with their daughter, Miss Bessie Field, who is now a teacher in the high school. Glendale was just at the beginning of its growth then. The Brand boulevard car line, the only one in the town, was just starting. A year later, the first high school was built.

During those fifteen years, as during thirty previous years they had witnessed Los Angeles' growth, the Fields saw Glendale grow, beheld her develop from a beautiful girl into a lovely young woman, saw her come into the glory of her womanhood.

Then, four years ago, Rev. Field died. Then, as has been said, last year Mr. Clark died. Now, as the only remaining spans that bridge those long, full years, Mrs. Field and Mrs. Clark are closer together than ever. This year's Thanksgiving will really be their greatest in a way. It is their thirty-fifth. They may not see a fortieth. It is something truly to be thankful for, a life-long friendship such as that.

SIMPLE HOLIDAY AT WHITE HOUSE

Illness of Mrs. Harding Is Cause of Abandoning Elaborate Dinner

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—Because of Mrs. Harding's illness plans for a regular Thanksgiving observation at the White House tomorrow have been definitely abandoned.

Instead, the president and Mrs. Harding, with possibly a few intimate friends, will pass the day quietly and simply, with no formal festivities of any description. The president intends to spend most of the day in the sick room with Mrs. Harding.

While Mrs. Harding's condition is said by her physician Brigadier-General Charles E. Sawyer, to be continually improving, she is not yet able to partake of solid foods or to stand the strain of entertaining friends. For that reason there will be no frills tomorrow.

NATION HAS FULL CAUSE FOR THANKS

Prohibition Greatest Reason to Be Thankful, Says Evangeline Booth

Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation army in the United States, acquiesced today in response to a request from International News Service that she pen a Thanksgiving day message. Her message is as follows:

By EVANGELINE BOOTH

For International News Service.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Were I called upon to name one thing for which this year we, as a nation, have greatest cause for thanksgiving, I should unhesitatingly name prohibition.

Thousands of turkeys, tons of cranberries and oceans of other seasonable goodies will be spread before the happy wives and children of America purchased by money which in former years went to fatten the saloon-keeper, the brewer and the distiller. No more will drunkenness and carousal in the mass mar the holy influence of the nation's finest holiday.

There is a fine sentiment in the ideal of Thanksgiving day, in that it typifies an unselfish gratitude. There is no individual in all the vast area of beautiful America so poor in spirit that he or she cannot find something for which to be grateful.

THANKSGIVING

GLENDALE as a City and the UNITED STATES as a Nation—the American People Have Ample Cause for Rejoicing at This Period

It is 300 years since Thanksgiving Day was first celebrated on the American continent. The Pilgrim band, although they had lost half their numbers during the first winter at Plymouth, and though they were beset by hardships and by the fear of their savage neighbors, found in the survival of the little colony and in the hope of a gradually ameliorating lot just cause for Thanksgiving to God. Have we, who have inherited the institutions and spiritual ideals that they labored to establish, less reason than they to be thankful?

Perhaps nations like men should echo the prayer of Agar: "Give me neither poverty or riches." We have enough, and, like the Pilgrims, we can reasonably hope for an increasing store of comforts in the coming years.

The Gospel of Hard Work and Cheerful Courage still counts most Americans as its adherents. We are working our way out of the depression that the war caused. And no community or city in the United States has made greater progress or has greater cause for Thanksgiving, than we, in the City of Glendale.

Our city has grown and prospered, as no other city in the country, and we unite with others in observing

THANKSGIVING DAY and Offering Sincere Thanks for Blessings Received and Those to Follow

Advance New Theory In Mystery Suicide

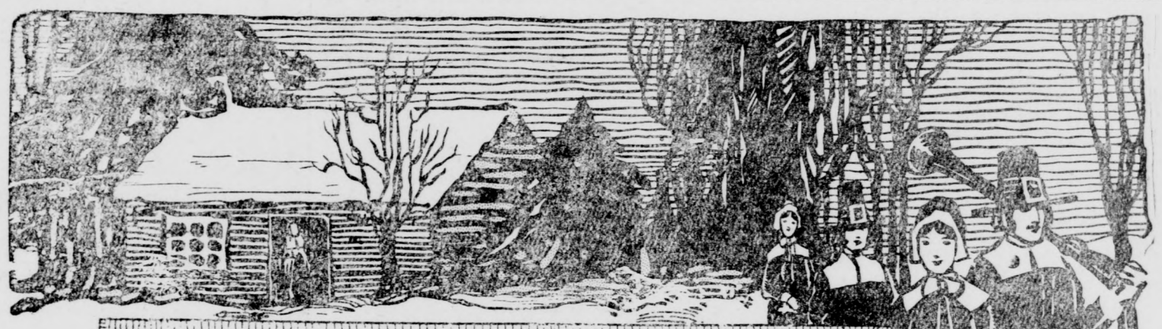
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29. — A startling new theory to explain the suicide of Vaden Elwynne Boge, who ended his life by taking poison at a "death luncheon" in his room at the Alexandria hotel, was advanced today.

The new theory was that Boge planned his death in imitation of the suicide in Dusany's dramatic play, "The Invited Guest."

In Dusany's play a youth enters a cafe and, although he is alone, orders a dinner served for two. He explains to the waiter that he has invited a guest who will appear later, and the dinner is served.

The youth eats his dinner alone, the empty chair across the table from him with the untouched food in front of it. Then, as he finishes, he takes poison and dies.

In Europe there are estimated to be 25,000,000 more women than men, the latter totaling 225,000,000.



Let All Rejoice

LET US give thanks—not for those gifts alone
Of field and garden, tree and fruitful vine,
But for those gifts by which our lives have grown
More nearly like the Infinite design.

Let us give thanks, from fervent hearts, for love;
Pure love toward God, unselfish love toward man;
For tenderness, compassion—gifts above
What human thought could wish to have, or plan.

Let us give thanks for the great gift of prayer
By which we reach the consciousness of peace,
And realize the constant help and care
Of Love divine, that cannot lapse nor cease.

Let us give thanks for true and loyal friends,
For home, and family ties; for work, for play;
For beauty, and the grace that laughter lends
To toil or trial, on our daily way.

Let us give thanks that in this troubled hour,
With skies bedimmed by doubt, by hate, by fear.
We can rejoice that Good alone has power,
Can prove it true, and thus win heaven here.

DEATH OF IRISH LEADER DEFENDED

Head of Free State Forces Says Childers' Execution Was Warranted

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service.

DUBLIN, Nov. 29.—Executions of Erskine Childers, the Irish republican leader, was defended today by William T. Cosgrave, president of the Dail Eireann, as symbolic of the Free State's determination to treat all men alike — rich and poor. Childers came of a wealthy and prominent family.

"Personally, I regret that the government had to take such action against Childers," said Cosgrave, the successor to the late Arthur Griffith as head of the Free State government. "But he was no more in the eyes of the law than other men who have been executed for identically the same offense. Why should he have escaped punishment?

"Under our constitution every man is equal to his fellow. No poor man can say in the Irish Free State that he did not get the same treatment as the rich man. Some people are crying out against the execution of Childers. They say that Childers was singled out—that it was an act of extravagant justice. Well, they must prove that to me.

Public Interested

"If we had allowed Childers his freedom there would have been a public outcry from everywhere.

"I and my government intend to have real freedom, real order and good government. We mean to stop this total destruction of the nation which has been going on all about us. This is where we stand firm as all civilized governments are pledged to do."

Mrs. Childers, widow of the slain leader, has recovered from the collapse she suffered when she was notified that her husband had been executed.

"I was proud to know that my husband died bravely for the cause he held dearer than life itself," said Mrs. Childers. "I bear no resentment."

Some one present said he had heard that the pistol found on Childers when he was arrested had been given him by the late Michael Collins.

"Poor Mickey," exclaimed Mrs. Childers. "I felt so sorry for him."

It is said that when Childers was led to the execution ground last Friday morning it was still dark and he asked the soldiers to wait a moment or two until it was lighter "so that they could aim better."

BURBANK BANKS IN BIG MERGER

First National and Burbank Savings to Merge With L. A. Security Trust

Legal proceedings are now under way in Burbank for merging the First National Bank and its allied institution, the Burbank Savings Bank, with the Security Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles, according to information just given out.

R. O. Church, who has been in charge of the Burbank bank, will be retained as cashier and manager of both institutions.

The legal steps necessary under the California bank law for the merger will involve the changing of the National bank into a state bank. It will probably be known as the Security State Bank of Burbank. The state bank, togther with the savings bank which is already operating under a state charter, will then merge with the Security.

It is estimated by officials of the Burbank that merger formalities will be accomplished by the first of the year.

The First National bank was the first banking institution established in Burbank. It was started as a state bank in 1908, and was changed to a national bank in 1911.

IS IT NECESSARY TO CONFESS SIN?

Rev. Keith Brooks In Sermon Says God Knows All Our Secrets

"Why should we confess our sins to God since He knows all about them?" inquired Rev. Keith L. Brooks Sunday morning in the council room at the city hall before the members of the Men's Bible class of the Presbyterian church.

"God knows that the confession of sin is necessary to us," he replied. "It drags sin into the light of His face. It shows us its foulness and makes us loathe it. It causes us to take sides with God against it.

"The Gospel is the gospel of redemption from sin. To deny sin is to deny the substance and destroy the very foundation of the Gospel. Even a Christian, who thinks he has reached perfection, John tells us, is in a state of self-delusion.

"John firmly declares that the Christian should not sin, that he must not sin, yet he recognizes that he does sin often through frailty; and he next presents a gracious provision for dealing with sin in the life of the believer. "If we sin we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." The fleshy nature was not eradicated with our acceptance of Christ. It remains within ready to express itself. Nevertheless, Christ is more powerful, and if we surrender to Him, He will counteract the power of the sinful nature and keep us from known sin.

Someone might say that since we have such a provision, why may we not continue to do as we like? We do not have an advocate so we can sin but in case through frailty we do sin, we have an advocate. The life-belts on the ship are not there so that we can have a wreck, but in case we do.

"Christ's unseen work as our advocate is too often forgotten by Christians. We speak of the finished work of the cross as if all He had to do for us had been completed. In one sense His work is not finished. His work for the believer really began when He ascended to heaven and became our representative there. We can go to Him at any time and come away with the assurance of sin forgiven."

Ship Subsidy Bill Having Hard Fight

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29. Friends of the ship subsidy bill rounded up their full strength today for the purpose of breaking down the assaults on the bill by its enemies. It has become apparent that every congressman favoring the bill will be needed to prevent adoption of amendments that would kill the measure.

Some important changes already have been made to the bill, most of them over the protest of members of the house merchant marine committee who are piloting the bill through the house. Among these changes were:

The 5 per cent freight charge deduction from income tax payments by shippers in American subsidized vessels was stricken from the bill by the farm bloc Democrats.

Federal employes are prevented from having interest in any purchases made from the shipping board of vessels or vessel property under amendment presented by Representative Blanton, Democrat of Texas.

Rates of interest on loans for new construction to be made from a special government fund were increased from 2 to 4¼ per cent and interest rate on unpaid purchase price was increased from 4 to 4¼ per cent.

Sale of the Leviathan for less than cost of reconditioning, about $4,000,000, was prohibited under an amendment adopted.

The ship subsidy supporters succeeded in beating down amendments which would have knocked out of the bill provisions requiring carriage of half of the immigrants coming to the United States in American vessels and creating geographical divisions of domestic communities along the United States coasts to be considered in maintenance of ship lines.

EARTH FOR FOLKS HAVING MISSION

No Right to Live Without, Says Rev. Cole; Unity Is Watchword

"The Least Common Denominator of Protestantism," was the copal church was heid on Sunday at the Central Christian church. Rev. C. A. Cole, the pastor, said that "If we have not a great mission, we have no right on this land cursed with a divided church to lift our heads and pretend to be a distinct people. If we have only invented something new or produced a new creed with which to call out a few followers to some peculiar belief or dogma, we have no right to live as a movement.

"As I conceive it, our mission has been like that of John, the Baptist, the voice of one crying in the wilderness, prepare ye the way of the Lord. In the wilderness of division, amidst the confusion of the Tower of Babel of all religionists, through persecution and tribulation of un-Christian Christians, our fathers fought and died and, worse, were misunderstood and ignored and for what?

Stand for Unity

"Did they have a mission? Yes, a mission as high as heaven and as broad as the whole wide world. I claim that we have stood for a hundred years crying from valley to valley and lighting our torches upon every mountain top, speaking forth the words: 'Repent ye from the sin and curse of division and strife and be as one; hold up the one banner which has inscribed upon it the word 'Christ'; and with your weapons go forth united, panoplied with the armor of Paul; using the Word and it alone as your weapon, and as your rule of faith and practice.'

"We stand for unity and a restoration of primitive Christianity. We have been as the bit of leaven which was put into the meal until the whole was leavened. While it may have been with apparent failure often, we have as a consecrated people let God work through us the consummation of His great purpose, to break down the middle walls of partition between races and religions.

"We disclaim being a denomination and claim there is but one church and it is the espoused bride of Christ. We are not the only Christians. So, my friends, our mission is to declare unity."

He wondered if the two men would reach Barbara in safety. He hoped so. Mallory loved her, and he was sure that Barbara had loved Mallory. He wanted her to be happy. No thought of jealousy entered his mind. Mallory was her kind. Mallory "belonged." He didn't. He was a mucker. How would he have looked training with her bunch? She would have been ashamed of him, and he couldn't have stood that. No, it was better as it had turned out. He'd squared himself for the beast he'd been to her, and he'd squared himself with Mallory, too. At least they'd have only decent thoughts of him, dead; but alive, that would be an entirely different thing. He would be in the way. He would be a constant embarrassment to them all, for they would feel that they'd have to be nice to him in return for what he had done for them. The thought made the mucker sick.

"I'd rather croak," he murmured.

But he didn't "croak"—instead, he waxed stronger, and toward evening the pangs of hunger and thirst drove him to consider means for escaping from his hiding place, and searching for food and water.

He waited until after dark, and then he crawled, with utmost difficulty, from the deep pit. He had heard nothing of the natives since the night before, and now, in the open, there came to him but the faint sounds of the village life across the clearing.

Byrne dragged himself toward the trail that led to the spring where poor Theriere had died. It took him a long time to reach it, but at last he was successful. The clear, cold water helped to revive and strengthen him. Then he sought food. Some wild fruit partially satisfied him for the moment, and he commenced the laborious task of retracing his steps toward "Manhattan Island."

The trail that he had passed over in fifteen hours as he had hastened to the rescue of Anthony Harding and Billy Mallory required the better part of three days now. Occasionally he wondered why in the world he was traversing it anyway. Hadn't he wanted to die, and leave Barbara free? But life is sweet, and the red blood still flowed strong in the veins of the mucker.

"I can go my own way," he thought, "and not bother her; but I'll be dinged if I want to croak in this God-forsaken hole—Grand Avenue for mine, when it comes to passing in my checks. Gee! but I'd like to hear the rattle of the Lake Street 'L,' and see the dolls coming down the station steps by Skidmore's when the crowd comes home from the Loop at night."

Billy Byrne was homesick. And then, too, his heart was very heavy and sad because of the great love he had found—a love which he realized was as hopeless as it was great. He had the memory, though, of the girl's arms about his neck, and her dear lips crushed to his for a brief instant, and her words—ah, those words! They would ring in Billy's head forever: "I love you, Billy, for what you are."

And a sudden resolve came into the mucker's mind as he whispered those words over and over again to himself. "I can't have her," he said. "She isn't for the likes of me; but if I can't live with her, I can live for her—as she'd want me to live, and, s'help me, those words'll keep me straight. If she ever hears of Billy Byrne again it won't be anything to make her ashamed that she had her arms around him, kissing him, and telling him that she loved him."

At the river's edge across from the little island Billy came to a halt. He had reached the point near midnight, and hesitated to cross over and disturb the party at that hour. At last, however, he decided to cross quietly, and lie down near her hut until morning.

The crossing was most difficult, for he was very weak, but at last he came to the opposite bank and drew himself up to lie panting for a few minutes on the sloping bank. Then he crawled on again up to the top, and staggering to his feet, made his way cautiously toward the two huts. All was quiet. He assumed that the party was asleep, and so he lay down near the rude shelter he had constructed for Barbara Harding, and fell asleep.

It was broad daylight when he awoke—the sun was fully three hours high, and yet no one was stirring. For the first time misgivings commenced to assail Billy's mind. Could it be possible? He crossed over to his own hut and entered—it was deserted. Then he ran to Barbara's—it, too, was unoccupied. They had gone!

All during the painful trip from the village to the island Billy had momentarily expected to meet a party of rescuers coming back for him. He had not been exactly disappointed, but a queer lump had risen to his throat as the days passed and no help had come, and now this was the final blow. They had deserted him! Left him wounded and dying on this savage island without taking the trouble to assure themselves that he really was dead! It was incredible!

"But was it?" thought Billy. "Didn't I tell them that I was dying? I thought so myself, and there is no reason why they shouldn't have thought so too. I suppose I shouldn't blame them, and I don't; but I wouldn't have left them that way and not come back. They had a warship full of blue jackets and marines—there wouldn't have been much danger to them."

Presently it occurred to him that the party may have returned to the coast to get the marines, and that even now they were searching for him. He hastened to return to the mainland, and once more he took up his wearisome journey.

That night he reached the coast. Early the next morning he commenced his search for the man-of-war. By walking entirely around the island he should find her he felt sure.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—W. F. Sullivan, St. Louis correspondent, writes of the "white elephant" on the hands of the Missouri capital in the form of the municipal free bridge. The structure cost $6,000,000 but the railroads won't use it.

TOMORROW—Frank Savage, New York, writes on Tex Austin's Wild West rodeo at Madison Square Garden.

By W. P. SULLIVAN
For International News Service.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29. — Many years ago—fourteen or more—agitation was started here to build a municipal free bridge, the main purpose being to break the so-called "arbitrary" rate charged by the Terminal Railroad association for freight crossing the Mississippi river.

The idea was to divert railroad freight traffic to the free bridge and to this end one of the largest and most magnificent bridge structures in the country was built at an original cost of $6,000,000.

Today it stands—as it has for eight years — spanning the mighty waters of the Mississippi, regarded almost with disgust by nearly all St. Louisans and regarded throughout the country as an object of rapturous mirth.

It is one of the biggest "white elephants" ever built, yet its purpose was a noble one. It was built to save the citizens of St. Louis many millions of dollars annually from the fee charged for the hauling of freight across the river.

After being built the Terminal Railroad association, which takes charge of the operation of all trains entering and leaving this city, refused to use the bridge, contending the structure was inaccessible to its freight terminals on both sides of the river.

Completed in 1916, it has been used solely by pedestrians and vehicles. The railroads, if they used it, were to agree not to impose any special fee for river crossing but to make their charges on the basis of mileage.

Had it worked out as planned many millions of dollars would have been saved annually to St. Louis. Thousands of shippers would daily be profiting by it and ultimately the citizens of this city through a lower freight rate.

Agitation after agitation on the bridge question was started by various organizations from time to time. Hardly would one plan fall through for a solution of the problem that today is still vexing the city when another movement would be pushed by some other civic body.

Bond issue proposals and vituperative controversies have kept the matter alive for years. Mayors have fought for it, but today railroad freight trafic comes to and from St. Louis as it did before the citizens put their hands deep into their pockets and expended their millions.

The Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to devise some plan for yet pushing through the original idea. One suggested plan is to pay the railroads, or rather the Terminal Railroad association, an annuity to use the free bridge in place of the Eads or Merchants' bridges, which are owned by the association.

The city, under such a plan, would complete satisfactory approaches to the bridge both on this side and on the east side in Illinois. These approaches would connect with the Terminal's general freight yards, making the bridge accessible to freight traffic and bring an end to years of controversy.

This would mean the floating of another bond issue of about $6,000,000 to pay for the construction of these approaches and also to pay off an existing debt on the structure of some two or three million dollars.

WET OR GRAVITY CELL

If two metal plates, one of pure zinc and one of pure copper, not in contact with each other, are immersed in dilute sulphuric acid no chemical action will take place. However, when the plates are connected by a wire or some other conductor outside of the liquid a current will flow in the conductor, as a chemical action takes place in the cell. The sulphuric acid acting on the zinc plate forms zinc sulphate, and the hydrogen liberated from the acid appears at the copper plate. The direction of flow of this current is always from the copper plate through the conductor or metallic circuit to the zinc plate and back through the diluted acid to the copper plate. The copper plate is termed the "positive" pole and the zinc plate the "negative" pole, and the direction of flow is arbitrarily said to be from positive to negative. For purposes of simplicity in marking terminals or preparing diagrams the plus sign (-|-) is always given to the positive and the negative sign (—) to the negative plates.

The current given by the simple cell described does not remain constant as it weakens after the connection between the plates is made, or in other words, the circuit closed. This diminishing is caused by the hydrogen, liberated from the acid, accumulating in small bubbles on the copper plate. This accumulation of hydrogen bubbles diminishes the area of contact of the liquid on the face of the copper plate, thus increasing the resistance of the cell. This action is called "polarization." To overcome this what is known as a "depolarizer" is utilized, in the form of a chemical substance added to the acid, or electrolyte, as the sulphuric solution is also called. The action of the depolarizer is confined to the positive plate and is kept from contact with the negative plate.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S THANKSGIVING

It was Thanksgiving in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow. The animal boys and girls were thankful because they had such good food to eat and such warm places to live in. Sammie and Susie Littletail, the rabbits, ate their Thanksgiving dinner of cabbage, turnips and lettuce. Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, had nuts, and Neddie and Beckie Stubtail, the bears, had honey and dried berries for their feast.

Mr. Turkey Gobbler, who had hidden in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, to keep away from the Farmer, flew off in the woods on Thanksgiving morning to search for seeds and berries for his dinner.

"And at night, I'll go back to my home in the Farmer's barn," gobbled Mr. Turkey, "for then all danger will be over until another year."

"What about Christmas and New Year's?" asked Nurse Jane, as the Turkey waved his wing to her in farewell.

"Oh, let the Chickens worry about those feasts," chuckled the big Turkey. "Thanksgiving is my chief trouble, but that will be over by night. And I want you to know, Uncle Wiggily, how thankful I am to you for keeping me hidden," said the Gobbler.

"Well, I'm thankful to you for having scared away the Fox," said the bunny gentleman. I told you that story last night, you remember.

Well, Uncle Wiggily had his Thanksgiving dinner of carrot pancakes, turnip flopovers and cauliflower pie, and then, feeling very satisfied and happy, the bunny thought he would hop out and see if he could find an adventure.

"Though I shall be happy enough without one," he said to Nurse Jane, with a twinkle of his pink nose.

As Uncle Wiggily hopped through the woods he met a little field mouse gentleman, just poking his sharp nose out of a leaf-lined hole under a log.

"Hello, Mr. Field Mouse!" called the rabbit. "Have you had your Thanksgiving dinner yet?"

"Yes, Uncle Wiggily," answered the Field Mouse, "and I am very thankful that there were so many beechnuts this year. I had more than enough for my dinner, and my nest under this log is warm on the coldest days. I have had a fine Thanksgiving."

"That's good," said Uncle Wiggily, and he hopped along until he came to the fields. There he met a Sparrow.

"Good day, Mr. Sparrow," greeted the bunny rabbit. "Have you had your Thanksgiving dinner yet?"

"Yes, than you, Uncle Wiggily, I have," chirped the Sparrow. "I found an old sunflower filled with seeds and these seeds made a fine Thanksgiving dinner for me and my wife. And I also found an old rubber boot that no one wanted, and deep down inside this rubber boot my wife and I have made a cozy nest, where we shall stay all through the cold winter. I am very thankful."

"Hum," mused the bunny gentleman, as he hopped along. "It does not take much to make a sparrow thankful."

Pretty soon Uncle Wiggily came to a big bush. Behind the bush the bunny saw something moving. It was something fuzzy and the rabbit thought it was Nurse Jane, his muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Oh, ho, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy!" called the bunny. "Did you come out to see how many of our friends had had their Thanksgiving dinner?"

"I came out to get my Thanksgiving dinner, if that's what you mean," was the growling answer, and then the fuzzy thing moved and it wasn't Nurse Jane at all, but the bad, old Fuzzy Fox.

Away he ran.

"Oh, dear!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Fox. "I fooled you, didn't I? Well, for my Thanksgiving dinner I'm going to nibble your ears, and I'm very glad you have such large ones, as it will make more nibbles!"

The Fox was just going to nibble the bunny's ears, when, all at once, along ran Mr. Field Mouse, and he nipped the Fox on the end of the tail, biting him very hard.

"Wouchie! Ouchie!" howled the Fox.

Then along flew Mr. Sparrow and with his sharp beak the Sparrow picked the Fox on the nose.

"Ouchie! Wouchie!" howled the Fox, and away he ran.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I'm sorry, Mr. Fox, but it serves you right. Now you have nothing to be thankful for!"

"Yes I have!" howled the Fox, as he ran towards the woods. "I'm thankful that I haven't two noses and two tails for the Mouse and Sparrow to pick and bite! That's what I'm thankful for, even if I have no Thanksgiving dinner."

"Well, I'm thankful to my friends for saving my ears," laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he hopped back to his hollow stump bungalow and went to sleep. And if the screen door doesn't come up out of the cellar and want to go roller skating with the hammock, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Susie's carpet sweeper.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

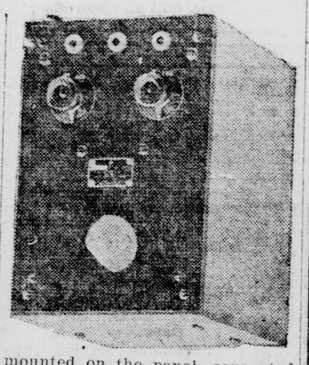
By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

DETECTOR AND TWO STAGE AMPLIFIER

This unit is an exceedingly compact detector and two stage amplifier of the vacuum tube type, and is used when a receiving equipment more sensitive and efficient than a crystal detector is desired. It provides a vacuum tube detector and two stages of audio frequency amplification.

The vacuum tubes require two batteries for their operation, one being a 6 volt (40 to 130 ampere hours) storage battery for heating the filaments and known as the "A" battery, and the other a dry battery of about 40 volts and known as the "B" battery.

Two rheostats permit maintaining the filament current for the tubes at the desired value regardless of small fluctuations in battery voltage. The left hand rheostat controls the current to the detector tube and the right hand rheostat controls the current to the two amplifying tubes.



Three telephone jacks are mounted on the panel, connected so as to control the amplification upon the insertion of the telephone plug. Thus the signal may be received either without amplification, with one stage, or with two stages by inserting the plug.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

GET STARTED TODAY

There are many good things which we are urged to do for purely altruistic reasons. Virtue is its own reward, we are reminded, and then are urged to be content with that. Which is as it should be. There is something lacking in the person who will never do anything purely for the other fellow's sake, and with no hope of reward except the consciousness of having done the right thing.

But there are other good things which we are urged to do for altruistic reasons, which also are worth our while to do for our own sakes. We have come to see that more and more in the last few years.

Honesty Pays

Business men have banded together to make advertising honest, not only for ethical reasons, but because honest advertising pays best in the long run. Big corporations have come to do more and more for the health and comfort of their employes, because it is the best business to have healthy and contented workers.

Have you done your Christmas shopping yet? No, that is not a sudden and surprising change of subject.

So Does Shopping Early

I have not forgotten what I am writing about. I am writing about things that are worth while doing not only because they bring great benefit to others, but because they bring great benefit to ourselves. And doing one's Christmas shopping early is most emphatically one of these things.

It brings immense benefit to others because it makes the inevitable rush less.

It means that there will be fewer clerks who will say, as they drag themselves home on Christmas Eve, what one, of whom I heard, said: "Oh, God, I hope I'll be dead before another Christmas."

It means that you will be showing the Christmas spirit, not only to the clerks, but also to expressmen, and postmen and hundreds of other workers who are involved in this vast Christmas demonstration.

And if Christmas is really to be a Christian, and not a pagan, holiday, surely these things must have some weight.

What It Means to You

But do not forget that it also means that you will have better service than even the best intentioned clerk could give you in the last few days, when she is more tired and has more customers to the minute to serve.

That it also means that you will have fuller stocks to select from; that there will be fewer tangles in the matter of delivery; that you, yourself, will approach Christmas less tired, and more able to enjoy it.

Of course, this is rather late to say: "Do your Christmas shopping early." You really should have done it now, to be early. And perhaps you have. I hope so. But if you haven't, well—can you tell me one good reason why you should put it off a day longer?

WOMEN IN HIGH POSITIONS

These two women have earned name and fame for themselves in the annals of the state of Kansas. Mrs. A. C. Mitchell is vice-chairman of the Kansas Republican state central committee. When she is not talking politics she is telling little confidential stories about her grandchildren, or perhaps discussing the agricultural outlook. She is a real "dirt farmer," and, politically, her interests are in serving the swarthy tillers of the soil. Mrs. Lillian Mitchner is president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of the state. She has been elected thirteen consecutive times to the post. She attended the world's W. C. T. U. convention in Philadelphia, which opened November 11, and took an active part in its deliberations.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

THE CANDY HABIT

Yesterday we decided that candy should be controlled.

Last year in Boston there were some efforts made to introduce a bill into the legislature prohibiting the selling of candy in the school districts, but it was unsuccessful. The commercial interests were undoubtedly the inhibiting factors. It would have been a good bit of legislation undoubtedly and might have had far reaching results, for other cities and towns would have been encouraged to do likewise had this Boston attempt been successful.

Is the candy habit dangerous? There is no doubt about it. Candy is a habit-forming food as much as alcohol is a habit-forming drink. I know for I have had the habit, and if an alcoholic craves alcohol more than I do candy—even yet at times—I am sorry for him.

It has been maintained by some writers that candy eating in excess causes an alcoholic fermentation. There is an alcoholic radical in cane sugar, so perhaps we do carry around a little private still in our tummies, and it is possible that this may account for the craving candy engenders.

Under normal conditions the sugar in the food passes mainly into the intestines unchanged, and it is digested in the intestines. Sugar eaten in considerable quantities, however, is apt to undergo acid fermentation and cause a direct irritation of the stomach.

Candy in excess is bad for adults—by causing these irritations directly, by unbalancing the diet and causing disorders in that manner, and by their absorption causing excess fat with its large family of diseases, diabetes being the favorite child.

In children the excess candy eating has far more serious consequences than it does in adults. For not only may it have the effects that I have enumerated for the adults, but it very often cloys the children's appetites for the foods that they need for growth and development. In a child with a diabetic tendency it would precipitate that disease.

It used to be thought that candy was the cause of much of the dental decay by direct fermentative action on the teeth. We now know that the action of candy in causing dental caries is not so such by direct action but by indirect action—it causes the diet to become unbalanced and insufficient so that the line, phosphorous, iron and other organic elements are deficient; in this way there is not enough of them to be deposited in the teeth, so the teeth soften and decay.

Candy is a food, a very concentrated food, but an energy food only. It has no protein, no vitamins, no inorganic salts, no anything but energy—calories. Three cubes of sugar equal 100 caloric value of candy from this. valoric value of candy from this. One chocolate cream an inch in diameter is 100 calories.

Neither children nor adults should have candy between meals. Children especially should not for the reasons I have given. After the needs of the body are supplied, then candy is all right taken as an energy food at the end of a meal if the energy needs have not been supplied with the meal. You must remember, however, that children need a lot of energy food, as much and more perhaps than mother or father.

The craving for sweets can be satisfied very much more wholesomely—with children especially—by substituting honey, dates, raisins, dried figs, etc. They contain sugar but they also contain vitamins and some iron and some of the other essentials.

MERCILESS NEURITIS

Imps of Hades armed with red-hot pitchforks could scarcely inflict more cruel, agonizing torture than that endured by many sufferers from neuritis.

The sharp stabbing pains caused by this disease are usually centered about the shoulder, neck, forearm, small of the back or along the thigh and leg in the region of the sciatic nerve. Sometimes they move from one part to another, sending out lightning jabs which produce untold misery.

If you want prompt relief, apply Tysmol over the part that hurts, and the pain should disappear.

Tysmol is absorbed through the pores of the skin and has a soothing, healing effect upon the inflamed, diseased nerves. Contains no "dope." Guaranteed harmless. Price $1 at Roberts & Echols. Tysmol Company, Mfg. Chemists, 400 Sutter St., San Francisco.—Advertisement.

COLONIAL THANKSGIVING DINNER

On pleasure bent, thus and thus, and so and so, we paid due tribute to our ancestors and thankfulness for the plenty bestowed upon us.

Gathered in the low-ceilinged, oak beamed room, with its cheery fireplace, sending up crimson sparks, we patterned our manners according to our costumes.

Priscilla and Miles Standish were the host and hostess, she clad in a gown of lavender crepe, short of skirt and bodice full of sleeve, cap and fichu, apron and cuffs of finest white lawn.

Beside her stood the doughty Miles in doublet, and hose, and boots of Cordovan leather. The last guest arrived, in due order we proceeded to the dining room.

The table of our ancestors was always a long one, and covered with a white damask cloth, and in the center one of the dearest of old pewter platters. Upon this rested a blue bowl filled with shaggy yellow chrysanthemums. Thus were represented buff and blue, favored colors of "ye olden time."

The triumph of all — Priscilla's table accessories were of silver and glass in colonial pattern, with china of deep blue. Furnishing all the light necessary were brass and silver candlesticks with yellow shades.

The triumph of our hostess was in the menu, for the food of the hardy pilgrims is not dainty enough for these days. Priscilla easily overcame the difficulty. The first course was a clear amber soup served in small yellow bowls; in this soup were tiny balls of egg yolks rolled in grated parmesan cheese. Then came a whole salmon boiled with head and tail on, shaped on a big silver platter in the form of a letter "S". This was garnished with slices of lemon and sprigs of parsley. An oyster sauce, rich and yellow, was served in a gravy boat, and boiled potatoes with a butter sauce.

The third course was a small roast pig, with a golden green apple in his mouth, served with cider sauce, and browned sweet potato slices. Following this came a golden punch, which was simply an orange ice with candied ginger in it. This was extremely modern, but a great help in digesting an extremely colonial dinner.

Next came a salad, extremely pretty, served in orange skins and composed of celery and cabbage with a little green pepper, and covered with mayonnaise.

This delectable dinner ended with a boiled Indian pudding cut in slices and served with cream and shaved maple sugar; pumpkin molds of French ice cream. With this went pieces of yellow sponge cake, not cut, but broken.

Of course, large cups of coffee with a generous allowance of cream finished the repast.

Meeting Priscilla next day in her true colors, also costume, I whispered, "Tell me, dear, were the platter and the cute little buff and blue bowls, heirlooms"? She confessed "I found that silver plate in an old trunk and the "racket" store furnished the bowls. So useful afterward in the kitchen."

"Always thus. Disenchanted!"

BEAUTY CHATS

by Edna Kent Forbes

YOUTH INTO OLD AGE

The really supple figure never grows old. I have seen men in their seventies stand as straight and look as young as men barely 30, and I have seen women of 60 or more, and many times a grandmother, with the youthful slimness and activity of quite young girls. I have in mind a woman of 64, who looks from the back, when a hat conceals her grey hair, like a girl of 18.

This is never due to luck, it is due to exercise and perseverance. Some people, of course, retain their youth longer than others. They never seem to go to any special pains to take care of themselves, they live quite unhealthy lives and youth stays with them. But these women are unusual. My advice is not for them, they are peculiarly blessed and do not need it. My advice is for the average woman who will grow stiff and bent and wrinkle as the years advance unless she takes precautions to preserve her figure and complexion.

The first bit of advice is—don't get fat. Layers of flesh will keep you from exercising and will cover up any remaining trace of youth or grace. A girl of 17 with a fat figure does not look young.

The second bit of advice is—exercise the waist. If the waistline is supple all the motions of the body will be easy and graceful. If the waistline is stiff the whole body will seem stiff. Besides it will prevent a great number of natural little motions and exercises which, in themselves, would help keep the body young.

Waist bending exercises are the best. These will take flesh from the abdomen, hips, and up and down the back. Stand with the hands on the hips, bend forward and backward as far as possible and as far as possible to each side.

Jane — In practicing deep breathing, stand before the glass at first to be sure that you have the correct position and then inhale deep breaths that fill the lower part of the lungs. Hold while you count three and then exhale slowly. Repeat this performance ten times at first and increase it each day.

If you find that you become

dizzy at first, stop the breathing for an instant and then return to it immediately, as this only means that you are taking into your blood more oxygen than you have been accustomed to having; but since it also shows you how you have been starving your system previous to this, it is too important to be ignored any longer. Gradually, this dizziness will disappear and with it will be richer blood, improved health and a clearer skin.

Prolong youth by keeping the figure supple.

'BURDEN BEARING' IS PASTOR'S TEXT

Mr. Rasmus, Jr., Talks at M. E. Church on Man's Quest of Freedom

The regular Thanksgiving service of the First Methodist Epissubject of the sermon Sunday The choir rendered several beautiful selections. Mr. Rasmus Jr., spoke on, "Burden Bearing." The gist of his sermon was:

"Three hundred and more years ago a people, inspired by the hope of religious freedom, left a land of time-worn traditions and persecutions, and journeyed towards the west, where shone the sunset of religious bondage. They were a people fired with religious enthusiasm, wiling to fight to the last that they might lift their hearts and hands to God, the product of a religious democracy.

"Now, as the Thanksgiving period rolls round again, our minds turn back over the years to the time when the Pilgrim fathers first landed on our shores and kneeled in the snow to thank God for their safe journey.

People Trace Lineage.

"Why is it that so many persons seem anxious to trace their lineage back to those persecuted people who came over in the Mayflower? Some would do so because of the social prestige that they believe is attached to it, but I would like to trace my lineage back to the Pilgrims because they taught the world a mighty lesson, a lesson in burden bearing.

"See them again as they left Holland, not with noise and laughter; but there is in the light upon their faces, and in the dignity of their bearing that which bespeaks an inexpressible gladness in their hearts. But they had not reached the high seas before they faced the tragedy of life and death. It was not all romance. Some were laid to rest in a watery grave; some beneath the rock ribbed hills of New England; some fell in battle with the red men, but they did not fail. Because the Christ in whose service they left merry England had taught them the secret of success. It was in bearing one another's burdens.

"Our Thanksgiving this year should be the greater because of their valor, and because to us there comes the opportunity of being nobly great, even as they were great, in the bearing of men's burdens and thus fulfilling a law of the Christ."

Hope For Peace In Near East Dwindles

LAUSANNE, Nov. 29.—The hope of establishing a permanent peace in the near east began to dwindle today. Serious trouble is expected from both the Turks and Russians as a result of the decision of the allies to reject the Russian demand for full membership in the conference.

Christian Rakovsky, president of the soviet of Ukrania, and a member of the Russian peace delegation, said there was no use of Russians remaining here if they were only to be "observers," while other powers made decisions that vitally affected Russia's Black sea coast.

While the perfunctory conference continues to appoint "buck passing" sub-committees which are accomplishing little, the real conference meets in Lord Cruzon's apartments, where the British envoy, who is attempting the Coue cure for his gout, holds long talks with the deaf Turkish envoy—Ismet Pasha—who probably has never heard of Dr. Coue.

Lord Curzon, who is chief of the British delegation, shouted into the ear of the Turkish envoy while crowds of newspaper correspondents in the lobby outside crowded as close as they could to hear.

Many of the delegates and subdelegates gathered here have about given up hope that the parley will be a complete success, except as a means of patching up a temporary truce between the Turks and Greeks.

With the exception of the Turkish straits, all the big questions are commercial, dealing with oil, railroads and banks. There is now a wild scramble for these commercial rights in all peace meetings.

The territory grabbers are incensed at Richard Washburn Child. American observer, whose open door speech upset the plans to bottle up the rich resources of Turkey for a few favored interests.

Ten thousand passengers sailed in one day this summer on fourteen trans-Atlantic liners from New York for Europe, and it is estimated they spent a total of about $15,000,000 on their trips.

HI-Y CLUB WILL SEND DELEGATES

At Mass Meetings Contingents Will Rally Under Their Own Standards

The Glendale Hi-Y club is to have a representation of well over forty at the annual convention to be held at San Diego on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week, it is announced by Secretary Rex C. Kelley of the local Y. M. C. A.

At a meeting held yesterday in the Y. M. offices, plans were made to let the rest of the state know that the Glendale Hi-Y is a snappy club. Each delegate to the convention will wear the Glendale black and red hat. In addition, through the courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce, each delegate will wear a white silk arm band with the following inscribed in red thereon—"Hi-Y—Glendale—Fastest Growing City in America."

Glendale's Banner

San Diego has seldom entertained a convention of the proportions this one promises. From reports already in, the number to gather there will be fully 700. In order that the various delegations comprising this great host may maintain their own individuality, while mingling with one another in the spirit of the occasion, standards will be carried under which each will rally at the mass meetings.

The full list of leaders in charge of the local contingent now available, follows: Rex C. Kelley, M. P. Harrison, G. E. Murphy, C. W. Ingledue, P. L. Hatch, Howard L. Butterfield, W. G. Boyd, E. M. Lee, H. L. Finlay, Dr. J. K. Gilkerson of Glendale, Jesse Taylor of Eagle Rock and E. D. Thomas of Burbank.

The delegation will leave Friday morning, in a fleet of motors.

Union Oil Company to Cut Big Melon

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Union Oil Company of California held Monday it was resolved that a stock distribution be made of 80 per cent (equivalent to $40,000,000 par value) to stockholders of record on December 5, 1922, payable December 20, 1922.

No fractional shares will be issued but certificates will be issued to stockholders evidencing their interest in fractional shares.

On or before January 20, 1923, stockholders will have the right to combine fractions so as to make full shares, and to exchange the same for whole shares upon surrender of certificates to the secretary of the corporation. All fractional rights not combined on January 20, 1923, for whole shares will be sold by the secretary and the proceeds of sale distributed to the holders of outstanding certificates representing interests in fractional shares.

The board declared its intention of paying a cash dividend in January, 1923, on the $90,000,000 capital stock that will then be outstanding at the rate of $1.75 per share and anticipate a regular quarterly rate of $1.75 per share will be maintained as long as the financial position and general business conditions of the company continue to warrant such distribution.

Ku Klux Presents $100 Check to Church

VENICE, Nov. 29.—A dramatic appearance by twenty men clad in the full regalia of the Ku Klux Klan, in a Venice church during the Sunday night services, was revealed today and created intense excitement among residents.

Appearing mysteriously at the door of the First Christian church just as the congregation sang the final words of a church hymn, the twenty hooded figures marched in single file down the center aisle of the church.

Approaching the pulpit the leader of the procession handed the pastor, Rev. W. Nichols, a check for $100, and then turned and led the strange procession out of the church. Not a single word was uttered by anyone at any time and no explanation of the incident was given.

The church has a small congregation and is badly in need of finances, it was reported.

NEW HIGHWAY IS PLAN OF BURBANK

L. A. Supervisor Questioned on Project; Details to Be Announced Later

A delegation of seven residents of the Burbank valley went to Los Angeles the last of the week to confer with Supervisor Wright and G. Gordon Whitnall, planning commissioner of Los Angeles, on the subject of valley roads and connections of Burbank with the proposed Riverside drive.

E. F. Pomeroy, who was one of the committeemen, said that nothing definite was done at the conference, although the committee was successful in exacting a promise from Mr. Whitnall that he would come out to Burbank to look the situation over very shortly.

Despite all drawbacks, those in and about Burbank who are in a position to know, believe that the plan to open a wide, well built and attractive roadway in this vicinity is progressing very favorably.

Just which of the highways in the valley will be picked for improvement is a matter of conjecture, according to civic officials. They said that just as soon as the project reaches a certain stage, residents of Burbank valley and Mr. Whitnall will be asked to choose the most feasible one.

New Clubhouse Complete

Construction of the new clubhouse for the Sunset Canyon club has been completed, and the beautiful structure will be informally opened Thanksgiving day with dinner served at three periods during the afternoon and evening, according to an announcement just issued.

The new club will be managed by William P. Lynch, formerly with the Yosemite lodge. Mr. Lynch is stopping at the Elizabeth hotel at present.

He says that he intends to have the carving space against the hillside excavated deeper. In this nook he plans to install several tables for refreshments.

The Sunset Canyon club has a large membership. It draws largely from Los Angeles, Glendale, Hollywood, Pasadena and other suburban cities.

Spazier Buildings Ready Soon

The two Spazier buildings under construction in Burbank are fast nearing completion. Plastering in the hall buildings is finished and hardwood floors are now being laid.

Mr. Spazier says that this part of the building will be ready for use by the first of next month.

He states also that if present weather conditions continue, the new hotel building will be finished by the first of the year.

Building Permits Issued

Building permits issued in Burbank during the month of November have reached $100,000 to date, according to a statement issued by Building Inspector Dale.

Two of the largest permits issued were for the Joaquin Miller and Abraham Lincoln grade schools. The total of the two permits approximated $40,000.

The former school will be erected at Eighth and Providencia avenue. The latter will be constructed at Buena Vista and Verdugo avenue. They will each contain seven rooms. Their construction will be frame and stucco.

St. Augustine, Fla., was settled September 8, 1565, by Spaniards, under Pedro Menedex DeAviles, but the place had been visited as early as 1512 by Ponce DeLeon.

Senator Borah Out for Soviet Russia

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—A smashing campaign for recognition of soviet Russia by the United States is about to be inaugurated in and out of the senate.

In announcing today that he expected to take a leading part in a renewal of the "drive" to bring about a reversal of the administration's Russian policy, Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, said he intended to put the Russian question squarely up to congress in the near future.

Borah will address a mass meeting at Boston Saturday night at which he and other speakers will urge that the United States should not longer withhold recognition from the Russian soviet government.

"There can be no genuine or lasting peace in Europe as long as a great nation like the United States treats the soviets as outcasts and refuses to recognize a government obviously supported by a great mass of the Russian people," Borah said.

The issue cannot be dodged much longer by the state department. It is my purpose to soon direct the senate's attention to it again, and to insist that congress at least should go on record as opposed to the United States refusing to acknowledge officially the existence of a government of a friendly nation which has already existed for several years.

"Until soviet Russia is fully recognized and accorded her rightful place among the nations, American trade with Europe will continue to be seriously hampered, and conditions overseas will remain chaotic, both politically and economically."

East and West Wed; Children Geniuses

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Fourteen years ago a national sensation was caused by announcement that the beautiful Frances Emery, then 22, daughter of the late Archdeacon John A. Emery of the Episcopal church, would wed Gunjiro Aoki, Japanese cook for the family.

It was the first marriage in the west to link the American and Japanese races, and the couple were forced to travel to three states before they secured a license. Dire predictions over this east and west alliance were made but gradually the case was forgotten.

Today it was recalled when the department of psychology of Stanford university announced that four children of Mr. and Mrs. Gunjiro Aoki have been examined by the physiological examining board and found to show a level of intellect high above the standard for their respective ages, placing them in the genius class. The Aoki children are Sophronia Frances 13, John 11, both in first year high school; Dorothy 10, Donald 8, and a baby 1 year old. Aoki has won business success.

School's Head Gets Architecture Ideas

Oakland has its own school architecture and a unified system for school construction, according to George U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale Union high school, who was there last week attending the annual state convention of school executives. He obtained a number of points which he believes will be applicable to the future needs of Glendale.

War Debt Overlooked By Tory Government

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The new Tory government has not yet taken up the question of inter-allied war debts with the other allied powers, Premier Bonar Law announced in commons Monday afternoon. He intimated that the British policy had not yet been completely formulated on this subject. He refused to say if his cabinet approved the debt note issued by Earl Balfour while acting minister in the Lloyd George Cabinet.

The Balfour note expressed Great Britain's determination to pay the United States, but stated the payment to America made it necessary for Britain to collect the monew owing to her by the European allies.

U. of C. Students Bar Campus Paper

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 29.—After forcibly barring from the campus a publication circulated among students known as the "Laughing Horse," and notifying news dealers not to place it on sale, a committee of University of California students today had a warrant issued for "John Doe," its anonymous editor. The warrant charges distribution of obscene literature. Police are said to have the name of the student editor and he will be interrogated today. Jack Butler, senior law student, and head of the committee waging war on the publication declared it was "unfit for students and destructive to the best interests of the university."

Eureka, Cal., claims the distinction of being the farthest western city in the mainland of the United States.

Further Executions Expected In Greece

ATHENS, Nov. 29.—It is rumored that Prince Andrew and other former ministers in the government of Constantine will be placed on trial before the military tribunal created by the Greek revolutionary committee. Further executions are expected.

The first secretary of the British legation and C. H. Bentinick, British member of the financial control committee, are remaining here. The bodies of the six former officials shot to death yesterday by a firing squad have been turned over to their families. They were: Former Premier Gournais; former Premier Protopapadakis; former Minister of Interior Stratos; former Foreign Minister Baltazzis; former War Minister Theotkis and General Hadjanestis, commander in chief of the Greek army in Asia Minor.

The president of the martial court has issued a statement defending the executions.

"These traitors," said the statement, "knowingly attempted to strengthen the throne under Constantine in order to enjoy public offices. They used terrorist methods to stifle opposition and they betrayed the people."

In view of the fact that Great Britain and America have filed protests against the executions it is expected that other nations will do likewise.

Great Britain Gains Diplomatic Victory

LAUSANNE, Nov. 29.—Great Britain won a diplomatic victory in the Near East peace conference today when the committee on territorial matters sidestepped the Mosul questions. This means that the future of Mosul will be settled privately, which has been the aim of the British delegates all along.

Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary and head of the British peace delegation, held a long conference with Ismet Pasha, chief of the Turkish delegation. It was assumed that the Mosul problem was the subject discussed.

Previously it had been reported that the British were willing to make widespread concessions to Turkey in exchange for the right to develop the great Mosul petroleum fields. Chief of these concessions were:

One—Recognition of Turkish sovereignty over Mosul and support for Turkey in the rectification of the eastern Turkish frontiers.

Two—Assistance for Turkey in floating a great international loan after the treaty is drawn and signed.

Following the breaking up of the conference, it was reported that not only Mosul but practically all the big questions had been tacitly settled by Curzon and Ismet, leaving only the matter of actual peace between Turkey and Greece to the disposition of the conference in plenary session.

The financial commission met this afternoon.

New York Declares War on Jaywalker

NEW YORK.—This city has declared war on "jaywalkers." The Bureau of Public Safety, a new branch of the Police Department, is now considering a proposal to chart the city streets into prescribed lanes, by means of painted lines, through which motorists and pedestrians will be compelled to move.

Georges Clemenceau Spends Today Resting

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. — Georges Clemenceau, famous statesman and war-time premier of France, "took it easy" today.

He spent the forenoon "loafing" and this afternoon was to inspect Chicago's boulevard system.

Tonight he will attend the "Snow Maiden" opera at the Auditorium theater where last evening he delivered a stirring speech on world peace.

Clemenceau will leave here tomorrow for Springfield, Ill., where he will lay a wreath on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln.

The "tiger" this morning expressed himself as pleased with the reception accorded him late yesterday at the Auditorium.

For more than an hour the aged statesman spoke. He warned the civilized world of the menace he sees in the Russo-Turco-German pact. He again pointed to the possibility of another war.

"I do not say it's going to be tomorrow, or when it will be," he said, "but when there is an alliance made between the barbarian, the anarchist and the German militarist, haven't we the right to believe it is not in the interests of peace?"

Clemenceau asserted he had not exaggerated the question of the arms situation in Germany. He read a formal document detailing some of the stories of war unearthed by the intel-allied control commission.

Rice is the most important food product of the Island of Java. The islanders believe that rice has a soul. In order to keep on good terms with the "rice soul" prayers are offered to the rice plant.

Deacon Is Victim of 'Church' Bandits

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—Police sought two frock-coated young men who carried revolvers beneath their Sunday clothes and used them to hold up Deacon Charles M. Bufford of the First Congregational church while the fashionable congregation was filing out a few feet away. The two young men followed the deacon as he carried the $300 collection into an ante-room. One of them extended a $5 bill.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

By the President of the United States of America

"In the beginning of our country the custom was established by devoted fathers of observing annually a day of thanksgiving for the bounties and protection which divine providence had extended throughout the year. It has come to be, perhaps, the most characteristic of our national observances and as the season approaches for its annual recurrence, it is fitting formally to direct upon them again to unite in its appropriate celebration.

MUCH TO CAUSE THANKS

"The year which now approaches its end has been marked, in the experience of the nation by a complexity of trials and triumphs, of difficulties and of achievements, which we must regard as our inevitable portion in such an epoch as that through which all mankind is moving. As we survey the experience of the passing twelve-month we shall find that our estate presents very much to justify a nation-wide and most sincere testimony of gratitude for the bounty which has been bestowed upon us. Though we have lived in the shadow of the hard consequences of great conflict, our country has been at peace and has been able to contribute toward the maintenance and perpetuation of peace in the world. We have seen the race of mankind making progress on the way to permanent peace, toward order and restored confidence in its high destiny.

SHOULD AID HUMANITY

"For the divine guidance which has enabled us in growing fraternity with other peoples, to attain so much of progress, for the bounteous yield which has come to us from the resources of our soil and industry, we owe our tribute of gratitude and with it our acknowledgment of the duty and obligation to our own people and to the unfortunate, the suffering, the distracted of other lands. Let us in all humility acknowledge how great is our debt to the Providence which has generously dealt with us and give devout assurance of unselfish purpose to play a helpful and ennobling part in human advancement. It is much to be desired that in rendering homage for the blessings which have come to us we should earnestly testify our continued and increasing aim to make our own goo dfortune a means of helping and serving, as best we can, the cause of all humanity.

"Now, therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, do designate Thursday, the thirtieth day of November, as a day of thanksgiving, supplication and devotion. I recommend that the people gather at their family altars and in their houses of worship to render thanks to God for the bounties they have enjoyed and to petition that these may be continued in the year before us.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this second day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-seventh.

"WARREN G. HARDING."

REAL THANKSGIVING

To the salaried man, who has made it a plan to save a regular amount each and every week, THANKSGIVING DAY is indeed a day of giving thanks, because opportunity does not find him without capital.

The salaried man who does not save his money, is in many instances, without a steady job, or money enough to tide him over in time of trouble or sickness.

This Bank will help you to save. You may start with as small a sum as a dollar. Your money will be safe, and at your command.

THANKSGIVING

A day for reflection. A day for meditation about ourselves, our community, our Nation.

This day finds us as a people, happily nearer the goal of stability than we have been for several years.

We feel that our country is on the threshold of a period of great prosperity. Our city is sure to share in it and our organization stands ready to meet the responsibilities the approaching era promises.

We are an optimistic people. So mighty is our country, so vast its resources, so huge its wealth, that we have countless reasons to be thankful.

It is fitting that we offer this day, thanks for blessings received, and those to follow.

PICK OUT YOUR HOUSE
ANYWHERE IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
I'LL HELP YOU BUY IT

If you can spare $30 per month ($1 per day) above your present expenses, I will help you finance the purchase of a $5000 home.

By this method my clients find that they obtain lower prices from owners; they are paying their rent to themselves; they are paying several hundred dollars less interest and they are acting as their own broker and banker.

I will help finance the purchase of any property to cost from $1000 to as high as you care to go at less than 6 per cent net cost to you for the use of the money needed and all services rendered. The payments you can make each month will govern the extent to which I can serve you.

PICKING WINNERS IN FINAL GAMES

Davis J. Walsh Announces His Favorites; You Have Same Right, Eh?

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The book on the gridiron handicap opens today and closes tomorrow for the last time during the 1922 season. Accordingly, we herewith post our odds on anything that fate decrees. We pay only on the nose. Place and show may be close but close doesn't count.

Here goes, as the fellow said as he seated himself on a keg of gun powder and reached for his pipe and match safe:

Three to two on Cornell to beat Pennsylvania and place all the short end money you can get down.

Even money on Pitt and Penn State.

Six to five on Notre Dame to outscore Nebraska.

Two to one on Vanderbilt to make it unanimous by beating the University of the South.

Take Your Choice

Two to one on Centre college to defeat South Carolina.

Even money on Detroit and Vermont.

Two to one on Colgate to beat Columbia.

Three to one on Virginia over North Carolina.

Six to five on Washington and Lee over Johns-Hopkins.

Seven to five on West Virginia over W. & J.

Five to three on Tennessee over Kentucky.

Three to two on Kansas over Missouri.

Even on Tulane over Louisiana State.

Two to one on Alabama to beat Mississippi Aggies.

No odds quoted on games between Washington and Oregon and Washington university and Oklahoma, owing to lack of adequate information.

Oregon Team Here for Holiday Battle

SEATTLE, Nov. 29. — Led by Coach Shy Huntington, twenty-two brawny University of Oregon football players arrived home this morning from Eugene for the big Thanksgiving game with Bagshaw's warriors in the University of Washington stadium. Due to the earliness of the hour at which the Oregon invaders arrived, there were but a few fans at the station to meet them.

"Give me dry weather by all means—that's what everybody wants," said Huntington in reply to inquiries as to whether his men were at their best on a wet or dry field.

With a fast, dry field, the fans are likely to be treated to some pretty exhibitions of aerial and end run plays. Both coaches have considerable at stake in tomorrow's game, and both are said to be planning diversified attacks, calculated to baffle their opponents.

FOOTBALL STAR WILL MARRY

Georgia Tech halfback with his fiance, Miss Alice Evans House, whom he is to marry on Thanksgiving day when the famous Red leads his team against Auburn for the last game of his football career. They are both from Newnan, Georgia, where they were childhood playmates. Red Barron's work on the gridiron last year brought him national prominence and he has been the sensation of the strong Georgia Tech. teams this year.

THEATRES

The Glendale

John Barrymore, in "Sherlock Holmes," which continues at the Glendale theatre, is increasing the popularity that attached to him as the star of that masterful criminal study, "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde." In the present picture, playing the part of the supreme detective, he has an almost unlimited field for his talents for the story ranges the underworld of the great city of London from Scotland Yard to Limehouse, spreading its sinister tentacles far out into the peaceful country side.

Moriarty, leader of the crime ring, directs his agents to kidnap Alice, the girl Holmes loves, in an effort to obtain letters in her possession. In saving Alice and retaining the letters, Holmes succeeds in rounding up Moriarty and his entire crew, in a stupendous climax.

The T. D. & L.

Two of the greatest thrills known to man have been combined to make "The Kentucky Derby," now playing at the T. D. & L. theatre, a fine evening's entertainment. They are the terror of a sudden shipwreck and the thrill of a close horse race.

Reginald Denny, the dashing, romantic appearing young star of the popular "Leather Pusher" series, enacts the featured masculine role, as the spirited scion of an aristocratic family. Lillian Rich, the well-known feminine lead playing opposite him, takes the part of the demure and sweet girl the old Colonel educated out of charity and who marries his son in spite of being a stableman's daughter.

On Thursday and Friday the great comedy-melodrama "Yankee Doodle, Jr." comes to the T. D. & L. theatre.

'Unpardonable Sin' Is Pastor's Subject

"What is the Unpardonable Sin?" was the question answered by Dr. H. P. Dunlop at last night's evangelistic service at the Tropico Presbyterian church.

Dr. Dunlop said "The unpardonable sin is the continued and obstinate rejection of Christ's will for your life until He withdraws His holy spirit from you and leaves you to your doomed and damned condition."

Dr. Dunlop will speak at 7:30 o'clock tonight on "The Broad Road to Hell." He and Mrs. Dunlop will sing "I Want to See Jesus, Don't You?"

City Teachers' Club In Monthly Meeting

The Glendale City Teachers' club met yesterday afternoon in the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school for its regular monthly meeting.

I. P. Thurston, principal of the Wadsworth school in Los Angeles and secretary of the Southern Section of the California Teachers' association, was the principal speaker.

The program included several piano numbers by Miss Alberta Green and a group of readings by Mrs. Verna S. Mitchell of the Emerson School of Self-Expression.

WASH KIDNEKS IF THEY HURT

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much meat and rich food may form uric acid, which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes, and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink. — Advertisement.

AUTO 'ACES' ARE READY FOR RACE

Twenty Drivers Today Are Speeding Up Cars for Thanksgiving Meet

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—Twenty of America's fastest automobile racing drivers were tuning up their cars today for the national championship dash for 250 miles tomorrow afternoon on the Los Angeles speedway. Every minute detail has been arranged and all of the drivers declare themselves ready for the starter's gun.

Jimmy Murphy and Ralph De Palma stand out as the favorites as they have been clipping off an average of 118 and 120 miles per hour in practice tryouts. Wade Merton has also been stepping around the planked oval at a speed far greater than it will take to cop the honors, and speed fans who have seen the tryouts declare he will push De Palma to the finish.

Bonus Is Offered

Tomorrow's contest was given added interest today when it was learned that Cliff Durant, owner of the famous "Durant team," consisting of Durant, Hearne, Cooper and Art Klein, had offered a bonus of $1000 to the member of his outfit that won, thereby discouraging "naming" on the part of the drivers.

Advance weather reports promise ideal weather for automobile racing and a record-breaking crowd is expected.

Washington Tackles U. S. C. Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29. — Coach Gus Welch of the Washington State gridiron eleven put his outfit through their final workout today at the Pasadena stadium prior to their battle tomorrow afternoon with the U. S. C. eleven.

The Cougars are expected to give the U. S. C. bunch a tough game despite the fact that the northerners haven't a very enviable record this season. Although somewhat lighter than the Trojans, the Washington State crew have plenty of speed, which Welch says will triumph over the southerners.

Both teams are said to be in the best of condition.

Mt. Everett is only about 29,000 feet high, but the sea off the Ladrone islands is 31,620 feet deep.

RED PEPPERS STOP PAIN OF RHEUMATISM

When you are suffering with rheumatism so you can hardly get around just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known.

Nothing has such concentrated, pentrating heat as red peppers. Instant relief. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Frees the blood circulation, breaks up the congestion—and the old rheumatism torture is gone.

Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, costs little at any drug store. Get a jar at once. Use it for lumbago, neuritis, backache, stiff neck, sore muscles, colds in chest. Almost instant relief awaits you. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Advertisement.

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR PAIN FROM BACK

Ah! Pain is gone! St. Jacobs Oil acts almost like magic.

Quickly?—Yes. Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

Rub this soothing, penetrating oil right on your painful back, and relief comes. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless backache, lumbago and sciatica cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin.

Straighten up! Quit complaining! Stop those torturous stitches. In a moment you will forget that you ever had a weak back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.—Advertisement.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.—Advertisement.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY

—to get in on a ground floor proposition. I have a lease on 1000 acres near the Old Spindle Top Oil Field, at Beaumont, Texas, and have a well near completion. Needing more cash to bring this well in before Christmas I have cut the proposition into 30 undivided interests in the leasehold and the well, which is down 2309 feet, and am offering ten interests at $1000 per interest.

I might split a few interests into halves and quarters at the same ratio.

Absolutely no chance for loss but possibilities of big returns, as the size of the leasehold assures early returns by selling sub-leases on some of the acreage.

Make yourself a Christmas present, but act quickly as this opportunity will soon be gone.

New High School Is Selling Real Estate

In announcing that in view of the many sales of lots at Eagle Glen Heights in the past ten days, the entire tract will undoubtedly be sold by the end of next month, H. V. Henry, local manager for the J. Harvey McCarthy company, said today that probably the principal reason for the popularity of this foothill subdivision was its close proximity to the new $600,000 high school on East Broadway.

"Leaving out of consideration, for the moment, the advantages of convenience of location, scenic beauty, etc., possessed by Eagle Glen Heights," said Mr. Henry, "its great attraction to Glendale people has been its educational facilities, provided by the new high school and the Broadway Grammar school. In my opinion it is not too much to say that, great as has been the effect of the selection of the Broadway site for the high school in enhancing property values in that eastern section of Glendale, its larger benefits are still to come.

"When that beautiful monument to Glendale enterprise is completed—when that magnificent building stands in all the splendor of its architectural grandeur in its ample grounds—it will serve as a lodestone for members of families who have children to educate. Home sites are certain to be in tremendous demand everywhere within touch of the school, and demand will, of course, cause a strong and ever-rising market for property."

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Clark of 566 West Harvard street will be dinner guests in Los Angeles tomorrow of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brown.

'Man From Hills' Presents Interesting Facts to Forum Last Night

as the "sweet singer" and the "man from the hills." Mr. McGroarty resides in the Verdugo district—amid pioneer surroundings that he so aptly talks about.

Mr. McGroarty addressed the members of the Chamber of Commerce and their guests as citizens of the most hustling "self starting" city in the world.

"In the yesterdays," he said, "while commuting to and from my home in the hills, I saw in Glendale—as Father O'Neill remarked—only strawberry patches. At that time I had to worry about getting on and off my car at just one junction. Today I don't known where to get off. Your city has grown so fast that it makes me tired striving to keep pace with it.

Slaves to Time

"However, I didn't come here to tell you how to run your city or how to build it. But were I to touch on that subject at all I would most certainly caution you public-spirited citizens to go slower.

"Being slaves to time is sending more business men to their graves today than any other thing. The one failing of American business men is that they can't mix play ith work. They are 'time slaves.' They are continually endeavoring to keep pace with the modern hall clocks, which keep saying 'Get there! Get there!' In their haste today men forget the pioneers who builded this state lived and worked to the tune of the old antiquated clock which said: 'Take your time! Take your time!

Not Lazy, Shiftless

"And because history tells us these big-hearted, noble, hospitable people who made California possible were not slaves to time, there are some who innocently believe that they were lazy and shiftless. But such is not the case, for the Franciscan Friars who came to this wilderness one hundred years ago to broadcast Christianity, accomplished more in one generation than we have in three.

"The more one delves into their history the more unbelieveable become their achievements. Not only did they convert the heathen habitants to Christianity, but they taught them to toil and labor. The Friars believed and practiced constructiveness. They erected that string of beautiful missions from San Diego to Sonoma—a distance of 700 miles—so that pioneers of those days could have shelter and safety. And they opened the doors of them to everybody. They favored no creed or nationality."

Early Spanish Families

And then Mr. McGroarty told the assemblage the story of the early Spanish families that inhabited this country. He drew mental pictures of the loveliness and hospitality of these people; of the courtesies extended in those days; of brave soldiers of the King galloping over the King's highway on their fiery steeds, horses of part native wild and Arabian breed, and, lastly, he visualized with picture adjectives, Don Antonio Mario Lugo, who, with some of the other older Spanish families, owned practically the whole of southern California.

"Sometimes when I dream of the beautiful country that this was during that period, I think that it would be worth while now to be dead so that I could have lived then," he stated.

Mr. McGroarty's address was punctured throughout with wit and humor. He completed his speech by reciting his poem, "Just California."

Jesse Smith's talk to the gathering was confined to the progress made by the Chamber of Commerce during the past eleven months. In that period, he said, the Chamber gained 530 new members and lost 341, leaving a net increase of 189. Of that number, he aserted that 101 new members had been enlisted during the past sixty days.

"The business man of Glendale," Mr. Smith stated, "owes just as much service to the city government as he gives his own business. To manage a hustling city calls for the co-operation of everybody, and unless all the members here don't dig in and do their bit the work will fall on the shoulders of only a few. And a few cannot start to accomplish what the masses can."

Colored Slides Prove of Unusual Interest to Many Members

Tuesday night, December 5, at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. John Robert White at 347 North Orange street. The council includes club officers, curators of the various sections and chairmen of all committees.

The club members are taking great interest in the holiday philanthropic activities and Mrs. Campbell urged that all desirous of making contributions communicate with Mrs. William Hunter, philanthropy chairman at 107 East Lomita avenue.

Of particular interest was the report made by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of the recent society circus, and the presentation by her of a check for $2,100 to the club treasurer, Mrs. M. E. Plasterer.

Shows $2,157.45 Net

The report of Mrs. Montgomery showed a net profit of $2,157.45, and of this amount $57.45 was kept in the treasury of the ways and means committee of which she is chairman.

Details given by Mrs. Montgomery showing the booth contributions at the circus were, literary section $150.96, cigar and soft drink booth $203.75, bowling contests $13, Shakespeare section $177.95, legislative section $50, music section $140.40, cooked food booth $168.13, maids and young matrons' card games $102, judges $12.40, arts and crafts section $229.39, Mrs. Stephen Packer's booth $15.01, ouctioning of groceries and other articles $15.25, psychic booths $6.80, donations $1, dinner and lunch $266.97, flowers $34.01, fish pond $35.41, handkerchief booth $106.30, booklets $7.70, dolls $66.10, goose $41.86, Ye Old Shoppe $75.06, shoe shining stand $13.35, balloons $68, Mrs. Woodard's cake $95, Hazen J. Educational Week

Following Mrs. Montgomery's report Richardson D. White, superintendent of the city schools, spoke of the coming educational week beginning this next Sunday, and asked for the support and interest of the club women. He invited the women to visit the schools some time during the week and announced the following designation of days of the week:

Monday, citizenship; Tuesday, patriotism; Wednesday, illiteracy; Thursday, school and teachers; Friday, equality of opportunity for education.

One of the features of the week will be four minute speeches Wednesday at local theatres by students of the seventh and eighth grades.

Next Club Meeting

In announcing the next meeting of the club December 12, Mrs. Freeman McG. Kelley, made known the securing of Dr. Bruce Gordon Kingsley to deliver his lecture, "The Healing Power of Music." According to Mrs. Kelley Dr. Kingsley is very popular as a lecturer and cleverly illustrates his address with the piano. Dr. Kingsley was at one time a London physician and surgeon, but in recent years has devoted his time to piano and organ study and composing.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Campbell took occasion to wish all club members a nappy Thanksgiving.

MAY SUCCEED HUSBAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29. — Mrs. May Hunt Nolan will probably succeed her husband, the late Congressman John I. Nolan. Friends announced today she had consented to run for the seat vacated by his death.

James Rhoades and E. F. Sanders, secretary and assistant secretary, respectively, of the Chamber of Commerce for their untiring devotion to their work. He said that to them can be laid the bouquets for making the Chamber the commercial dynamo that it is today.

Harry Girard, Mrs. Girard and Wilbur Herwig were the recipients of many compliments following the meeting for the splendid manner in which they "put over" their vocal selections.

The last forum dinner and meeting held by the Chamber of Commerce was on September 26.

W. E. EVANS AT HOME FROM TRIP

Visits Number of Places of Prominence In History; Business Improving

"The little frame building near Newburg on the Hudson where General Washington was quartered at and after the close of the Revolution is of great interest to tourists and others visiting that section of the country. The wood work in these old structures was brought from Holland long before the war of the Revolution. It is surprising how well they have maintained their state of preservation in that rather severe climate.

"From Albany I went to New York City, where I was engaged four or five days finishing the business which took me to the Atlantic coast. I then went to Kentucky for a visit with my folks and while there spent the time riding horse back, hunting and 'shooting at' quail. From Kentucky I went to Waterloo, Iowa, where I met Attorney I. B. Dockweiler of Los Angeles for the purpose of looking after certain litigation he and I are conducting there for Los Angeles clients.

"As for conditions in the east, let me say there seems to be a pronounced feeling that business conditions are generally improving. According to New York papers a little more than 90 per cent of labor is employed and at a wage just twice as high as the highest rate paid by any other country in the world. That is for unskilled labor.

"Judge Gary and Eugene Grace, heads of the two largest steel manufacturers in the country issued a statement a few weeks ago predicting that the country would be confronted with a serious shortage in labor within a short time. In the middle west the improved conditions are very marked. In the little city of Waterloo, Ia., one year ago there were dozens of industrial concerns closed but now practically all have resumed and at substantially full capacities. I learned that the same was true with other manufacturing towns in the middle west. One year ago the farmers were selling, or trying to sell their corn for about 25 cents a bushel, and now they are getting about 65 cents. I was told that 75 to 80 cents per bushel was frequent.

"The prices of other farm products have increased accordingly. This is the third time I have made this same trip during the past fifteen months and I can say quite confidently that conditions are much better than I found them heretofore and I met many people who are coming to California and droves of them who want to come."

Greek Delegation at Peace Meet Shunned

LAUSANNE, Nov. 29.—There were indications here today that Greece's interests in the Near East peace conference will suffer as a result of the summary execution of former members of the Greek government at Athens in the face of protests and warnings from Great Britain.

The sub-commission on the Ottoman (Turkish) debt met during the morning. Eleutherios Venizelos, head of the Greek delegation, addressed the commissioners but made no reference to the Athens executions.

Venizelos and his Greek colleagues are getting a chilly reception from the British. It is reported that the British are preparing to bring pressure upon the Greek government for payment of loans advanced to the Greeks while they were carrying on war against Turkey.

Ismet Pasha and the other Turkish delegates are elated over the turn of affairs.

Demands Title Be Restored to Siki

PARIS, Nov. 29.—M. Diagne, negro member of the chamber of deputies, representing French Senegal, today demanded that the chamber force the French boxing federation to restore the light heavyweight title of "Battling" Siki under threat of cancelling the government subsidy to the federation. Siki, Senegal negro, won the title from Georges Carpentier but later was deprived of his ring honors by the federation on account of "rough house tactics" at the ringside.

Thanksgiving -:-

A splendid suggestion for Thanksgiving Day is happiness, for somehow or other being thankful and being happy go together.

And Glendalians have so many things to be thankfully happy for.

In the first place Glendale's in California, and, being a Californian, either native or adopted, is indeed a great blessing.

Next, Glendale is every day proving her rightful claim to being "the fastest growing city of its kind in the United States," and that's another good reason why Glendalians should be thankful tomorrow.

There is no better time to count your blessings than on Thanksgiving Day—that's what it's for. So, tomorrow after the turkey dinner when you sit down to be comfortably thankful we want you to know that we are thankful with you and join with you in wishing Glendale another even more prosperous year.

Thanksgiving

As the spirit of the holidays thrills us anew with the thoughts of thanksgiving, it is fitting that we who are blessed with homes in this great western land, should pause to take account of our blessings.

It was in truth the hand of God that re-created Eden on the shores of the great Pacific ocean, and he who makes his home in this great land of sunshine and flowers is supremely blessed.

And to Californians who are Glendalians, the past year has brought progress and prosperity and now on the eve of Thanksgiving Day may we join hearts and hands in crowding tomorrow full of the true spirit of thankfulness.

As one of Glendale's institutions we strive to make every day one of thanksgiving by administering to the needs of all within our gates in the alleviation of human suffering.
